2024 COACH COMMENT

Hayden will be all over the field this Spring at the JV level. He'll see time at 3B, in the outfield and even behind the plate catching. He's got some raw talent defensively and offensively. If he's patient with this game and allows himself time to learn at the plate and on defense, he could have a good high school career going forward.

2023 COACH COMMENT

Hayden has a good size frame on him and shows flashes of his capabilities. As with many young high school players he's going to spend a large majority of his freshmen year developing into a consistent role and position. Will see time on the corners in the infield and outfield at the sophomore level. Could also get on the mound?
